

Poor Mental Health costs employers between 33 billion and 42 billion

This is made up of:

Deloitte* have produced a new analysis that considers the costs to employers of presenteeism, absenteeism and staff turnover due to mental health problems.

Sources: * Thriving at Work Stevenson Farmer review
Deloitte Workplace and Mental Health Review

This amounts to a cost per employee of between per year.

This cost is for all employees, not just those who are ill.

Private Sector Poor Mental Health costs per employee

Average cost per employee: £1,119 – £1,481

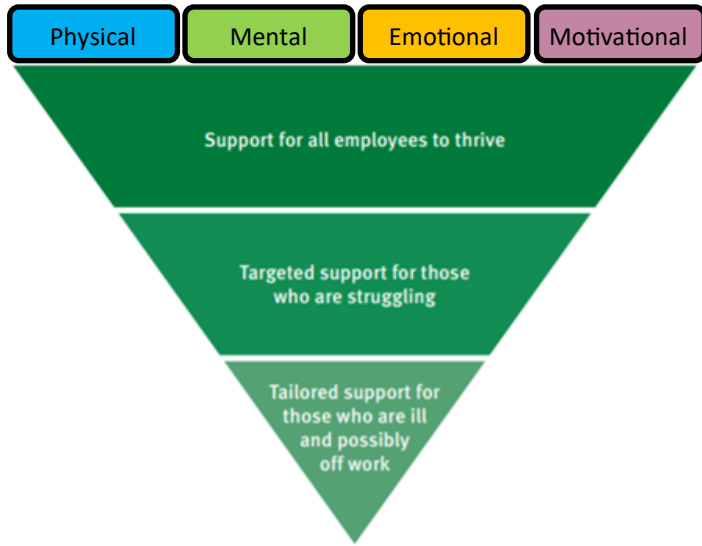

The Deloitte report also looked at variation between sectors for the first time and found the cost per employee varies significantly between sectors.

Industries such as finance and insurance have a much higher cost per individual per year (over £2,000 per employee per year) than the retail or leisure sectors (£500 to £1,000 per employee per year).

Employers are recommended to provide support for all employees to thrive, and more tailored for those who may need it*

Sources: * Thriving at Work Stevenson Farmer review

Deloitte Workplace and Mental Health Review

Proactive and Preventative measures: Support every employee to be the best they can be at work.

Reactive and Crisis Management measures: Targeted support for some individuals

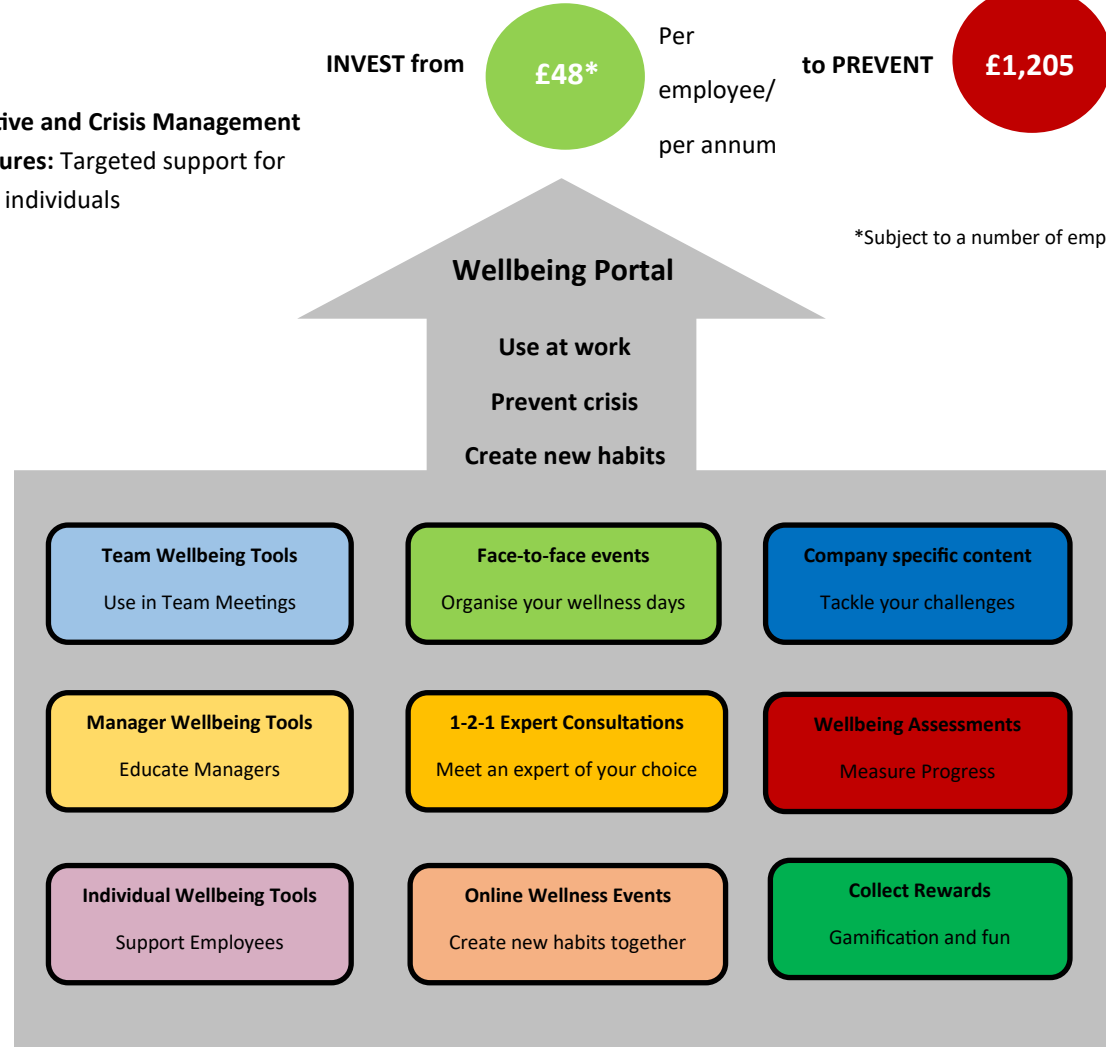

*Subject to a number of employees

Reported Results

“The wellbeing portal offers a tremendous value to the managers and staff. Not only we have seen the engagement score increased by 12 % but also I have witnessed a significant positive impact on our bottom line”

“My staff finds the portal extremely useful. Regular campaigns help with building engagement. Thank you for offering so much value”

ACCESS THE PORTAL